

Office of the "Daily Evening Star," 6th street south of Penn. avenue.

Weekly Calendar. Table with columns for Sun., Mon., Tues., Wed., Thurs., Fri., Sat. and rows for Dec 1-7.

Mr. WILLIAM TUCKER, with such assistance as he may employ, is authorized to receive subscribers and advertisements for the "Daily Evening Star."

Persons wishing to be served with the "EVENING STAR" will leave their names and address at James Kelly's...

Local Affairs.

In this page we intend to publish the rates of discount, prepared by one of our bankers, list of different arrivals, and the state of the flour and produce market, as well as the latest telegraph despatches.

The paper we issued a few days ago had a little too much margin—this has not quite enough. We hope to rectify all defects in subsequent publications.

Our Courts are sitting, but the business with which they are engaged is not of a very interesting character. There are cases to be tried in the Criminal Court which will afford material for discussion among outside jurors.

We learn that J. B. Bensel, esq., the gentlemanly Treasurer of the National Theatre, is about to leave our city to enter upon another and a different field of labor—that of Deputy Sheriff of New York city.

The acts passed by the Councils relating to the firemen and their apparatus seem to have given offence to some of the companies. What part of the law is objectionable we are unable to say, as we have not seen a copy of it; but we will endeavor to obtain one and lay it before our readers as early as possible.

Our city is well supplied with amusement, and strangers need not suffer with "the blues" for want of it.

The National Theatre is filled nightly with admirers of the Ballet. Alboni met with a good reception on Tuesday night. We hear that the "Infant Drummer" who is still going on "four years old," is in the city, but what kind of houses he delights, or whether he delights any, we cannot say.

If you want to get good and desirable dry goods, groceries, clothing, &c., look over the advertisements in our columns to-day.

We have worked off a large edition of this paper, and shall keep some in reserve. Subscribers who do not receive their paper will please let us know, as the routes are new to the carriers.

The man that now-a-days will write and not pay his letter, is worse than the heathens are. What don't know any better; and if you take a fine tooth comb, and rake down "all creation," you couldn't find a meaner man in this here mighty nation."

STOVES! STOVES! STOVES! HODGSON at his store on H, between 6th and 7th streets, a fine assortment of STOVES, of all kinds, to which particular attention is called.

GLOVES! GLOVES! GLOVES! PARKER has now a stock of Ladies' and gentlemen's gloves, and all kinds of gloves, in all colors, from all sorts of Bayou's make, with our stamp in them.

Combs! Combs! Combs! The most beautiful assortment of Paris Shell and Buffalo Horn Combs, English Horn, Buffalo and shell dressed with every fine tooth comb.

Hair Brushes! Hair Brushes! Hair Brushes! English, American and French Hair Brushes in 100 varieties; Tooth and nail brushes in great variety.

Shaving Materials. We have taken great pains to have at hand the best French Shaving Cream, and Military Shaving Soap. In this department of our trade we particularly invite the attention of gentlemen who shave.

PARKER'S Fancy and Perfume Store, Under National Hotel. In ten days we shall be receiving our stock for the season.

HOME.

Home's not merely four square walls, Though with pictures hung and gilded; Home is where affection calls— Filled with shrines the heart hath builded; Home!—go watch the faithful dove, Sailing 'neath the heaven above; Home is where there's one to love! Home is where there's one to love us!

HABIT.—"I trust everything, under God," said Lord Brougham, "to habit, upon which in all ages, the law-giver as well as the school-master has mainly placed his reliance; habit, which makes everything easy, and casts all difficulties upon a deviation from a wonted course. Make sobriety a habit, and intemperance will be hateful; make prudence a habit, and reckless profligacy will be as contrary to the child, grown or adult, as the most atrocious crimes are to any of your lordships. Give a child the habit of sacredly regarding truth; of carefully respecting the property of others; of scrupulously abstaining from all acts of improvidence which involve him in distress, and he will just as likely think of rushing into an element in which he cannot breathe, as of lying, or cheating, or stealing."

It may be well for some of our theatre and concert-going people to consider how fashionable they are, according to the existing standard of fashion. The Home Journal (ever au fait in all matters pertaining to fashion,) it may be interesting to our lady readers to know, announces that "throwing bouquets upon the stage" is now pronounced not the thing" by those whose example, in such matters, is law. It has been overdone, not by the public, the editor thinks, but by the professional ovation-stimulators. Then, as to opera-glasses, Mr. Willis says; "the time was when the display of one in our concert rooms was something like, in its effect upon the spectators, an order of nobility. The time is, when to be without one is a sort of distinction." Then again, as to bonnets and head-dresses, what our oracle says should be heard, and respected by all who are anxious to keep within the mystic circle of the "exacting goddess." "The time was," we are told, "when all the ladies at a grand concert, or in the boxes of a theatre, were in full dress." The time is, when bonnets are in (on) the majority.

LYON, of New York, is somewhat of a lion among bugs. Read his advertisement in the Tribune:

'Off in the still night, Ere slumber's chains have bound me, The bedbugs and the roaches have in thousands come around me; In vain I'd turn, I couldn't sleep, The rack I seemed to lie on, Till I killed them all, both gr-at and small, With powder bought of LYON, No. 424 Broadway.

M. T. PARKER, House and Sign Painter and Glazier, RESPECTFULLY informs his friends and the public generally, that he is prepared to execute work in his profession as punctually and at as reasonable rates as it can be done in Washington. Orders left at his room on Louisiana avenue, between 6th and 7th sts., or at his residence on C street, near of his room, will receive prompt attention. dec 14

Advantages of Advertising.

The New York Tribune thus sets forth the advantages of making one's wants known by advertisements in a newspaper:

"If you want a house, there is no need of running all over the city, incommencing hundreds of families by a long list of questions, or by overrunning their rooms. If you want a house, write a brief description of such a one as you would like, and advertise it. You will not wait long before the house will come to you; and thus you will save time, strength, and annoyance to yourself and others.

"If you have a house to let, a bill at the door may be seen by a hundred persons in a day; an advertisement in the Tribune will be seen in the same period by a hundred thousand. Therefore, advertise; for nine out of ten who want houses search the newspapers first.

"If you want a servant, advertise just as you would for a house, stating what qualifications you require, etc. Then, instead of hunting through the town, and getting a poor stick at last, you may sit still, and select from those who will call upon you, the very one you wanted.

"If you want a place as servant, apprentice, or journeyman, don't wander day after day from house to house and shop to shop, but, for the mere trifle charged for such notices, tell the whole world what you can do, and where you can be found. Your days of idleness will soon be numbered. Men don't go about hunting up laborers; they look in the papers, and save themselves the time and the trouble of travel.

"If you want board, you need not stop at a hundred doors to be told that they are full, or climb uncounted stairs to find that the rooms don't suit. Advertise; tell what rooms and prices and location you desire, and the next day open your answers and take choice of a dozen first-rate places.

"Those who want boarders scarcely need advice; they have long since ceased to depend upon friendly recommendations and door-plates; but they might improve in their notices by more particular explanation of their accommodations, prices, etc.

"If you wish to sell more goods this year than you ever did before, advertise more. The unparalleled success of those merchants and traders who have kept their names and their goods before the people, is a lesson not to be disregarded by any one who depends upon public patronage for a living. The best customers are those who find out what they want before they leave home, and these are the ones who invariably look in the newspaper to see where the article is to be found.

"If you want a steamboat or a poodle dog, a thousand laborers or an errand boy; if you want anything whatever that you do not know just where to find, or do not choose to run after, advertise your wants, and ninety-nine times in a hundred you will be gladly served at your door, far cheaper and better than by any other known process.

"The daily newspaper is the established medium of exchange between mind and mind in regard to nearly all the wants of life, and its usefulness is extending among all classes with surprising rapidity. Everybody reads the morning paper, from the millionaire over his coffee, to the African who has just polished his honor's boots—and no part of the paper gives so fresh, varied, and comprehensive pictures of the city and the age as the advertisements."

ANECDOTE OF FINN.—Finn was once a witness for the prosecution in a case before the Common Pleas of Boston, and his testimony was so direct and conclusive, that a counsel for the defence thought it necessary to discredit him. The following dialogue ensued: "Mr. Finn, you live in—street, do you?" "Yes—I do."

"Have you lived there a great while?" "Several years."

"Does not a female live there under your protection?" "There does."

"Does she bear your name?" "She is certainly known in the neighborhood by the name of Mrs. Finn."

"Is she your wife?" "No: we were never legally married."

"That will do sir. I have nothing more to ask."

"But I have something more to answer, sir," replied Mr. Finn, with spirit. "The Mrs. Finn of whom you have been pleased to speak with such levity, is my mother—and I have known but one man base enough to breathe aught against her. You, sir, can guess who he is. True, she is under my protection. She protected me through my infancy and childhood, and it is but paying a small portion of the debt I owe her, to do as much for her in her old age."

The baffled counsel had not another word to say.—Boston Bee.

GAUTIER'S HERB CANDY, FOR Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, &c.—This invaluable Candy has been prepared at the suggestion of one of our most eminent physicians, and has the extraordinary property of immediately relieving coughs, colds, hoarseness, difficulty of breathing, bronchitis, asthma, and huskiness of the throat. It operates by dissolving the congested phlegm, consequently causing a free expectoration. Those who are troubled with that unpleasant tickling in the throat which deprives them of rest night after night by the incessant cough which it provokes, will, by using this candy, find immediate relief. This Candy is composed of six simple ingredients, principally of herbs, which are known to be very efficacious in the cure of diseases resulting from colds, and some of which, being rather nauseous in their natural state, would deter many from resorting to them; but when made into candy become palatable without losing any of their valuable medicinal properties. The subscriber, in presenting this candy to public notice, wishes it to be expressly understood that he does not claim for it any miraculous curing properties, nor does he present it with a long string of certificates of recommendations, although he might do so, as numerous have been tendered him by those who have received great benefit from its use, but he prefers that the true merits of the Candy should be its own commendation. The Medical Faculty of this city have been pleased to give it a very favorable notice, and invariably recommend it to their patients as one of the best articles of the kind. Price 12 1/2 cents per stick. Prepared, and for sale, wholesale and retail, by C. GAUTIER, A La Ville De Paris, Corner of Penn. avenue and 11th street. dec 16
